The Benefits of Internally Glazing

Why are more and more joiners deciding to internally glaze their windows?

It's a trend that is certainly growing, and it's easy to see why considering some of the benefits below;

- Better security
- Much easier to install larger windows on site, as scaffolding is not needed for multi-story buildings
- Less remedial call-outs due to bead shrinkage and pin issues

If you'd like further information on internally glazing feel free to get in touch and we'll be happy to help. You can also read our full blog post by typing the link to the right or scan the QR code from your phone.

Drained & Vented

FOR FACTORY FITTING & SITE FITTING

This system of glazing can be achieved using many different combinations of products. The 'Drained & Vented' method which is now more widely used, will allow moisture within the rebate to escape via a vented sash or the glazing bead. This system can be applied either on-site or within a factory environment as you are allowing the free movement of moisture. SDH tapes have been tested by BSI and BBA for security (See prices below) Qwood is also a good option for this system as it creates a very clean and simple pinless glazing solution.

Security Glazing Tape

SDH glazing tapes are a competitive but secure glazing product for securing the glass to the timber rebate ensuring that the glass unit cannot be easily removed. Manufactured from PVC foam with a high-performance solvent-based acrylic.

- Ensures water tightness and draught-proofing between the frame and glass
- Easy to install with no special tools
- Application temperature +10°C
- Available in black or white
- Allow tolerance of 1mm on width of tapes

Fully Bedded

FOR FACTORY FITTING ONLY

This system of glazing is where you encase the glazed unit with butyl Arboseal GZ tape and Arbosil LM Silicone. This method is a traditional system of not allowing any moisture to penetrate the tapes and affect the glass unit, therefore preventing the unit from failing. This system can only be applied within a factory-controlled situation and NOT fitted on site. This is due to the requirement of being able to control the relative air moisture, so that you do not lock moisture within the rebate.

ARBO

Our ARBO brand sealants are respected throughout the building, glazing and construction industries by architects and contractors.

Arboseal GZ Tape

Arboseal GZ is a flat section, preformed butyl strip. It compresses under moderate pressure and has appreciable surface tack and recovery. Used for glazing glass units into timber frames and windows.

Storage Life

36 months in original unopened packaging stored in a cool, dry place out of direct sunlight.
